MOVIE ACTORS CHASED FROM STREET BY THE POLICE.

The parade experts who arranged the greatest civilian parade the world ever knew and did it in less than justified their precaution. A "crowd stuff" was doing tents with a gentleman disguised as Joan of Arc in full armor in Fifth Avenue just above Fourteenth Street. His visor was disarranged and showed his whiskers just as the head of the parade come up. The crowd started in for horse play, but Chief Inspector Schmittberger swept actors and camera men tormentors into the side ets in short order. A moment or two before a borse drawing a mail regon cutting through the line as it sed Broadway fell and caused a five-minute halt.

THE HAGUE, May 13. - Severe ounishment was meted out to the which attacked the Sussex, it is generaly believed in well-informed circles in Berlin, though no official report on the nature of the punishment has been made public.

This belief is based largely on the indignation felt in Germany over the U-boat commander's deception. His report was implicity believed until the American Government presented conclusive evidence showing that the Channel packet was torpedoed. In view of this evidence Germans feel that they were put in a humiliating position. It is not overstating the case to say that the submarine commander's deception caused as much indignation in Berlin as it did in

The German Government, desiring to avoid a break with America at all costs, has taken two important steps in the past fortnight to improve the relations between the two nations. The German concessions in the submarine matter was one. I am now liquidating for the owners of the Manhattan Beach Estates and the Manhattan Beach Realty Corporation all their holdings, including the site of the old Oriental Hotel. There has been spent on this property in the past few years one million dollars in putting in all city improvements. Also the beautiful ocean esplanade. This means macadam streets, granolithic sidewalks and curbs, gas, electric lights, and a modern sanitary sewerage system. These improvements will be carried through the balance of the property. Manhattan Beach to-day has 114 homes, which cost $700,000 to build—beautiful all-year-round homes now occupied by happy home owners.
